

KLOVE is a most valuable assest to this community. It encourages people in many ways. It acts as a voice in the dark for those who are hurting, encourages the scared and revitalizes the weak. It helps reduce road rage (in myself at least). The songs they play are great! I don't have to worry about my kids hearing about wonton sex and loose morals. The songs they play talk about helping people, loving yourself, doing what is right and of course loving God. There have been people talked out of suicide because of the people there to talk to them on the phone. There are people to pray with anyone who needs it. There are so many people in this world today that feel adrift in an uncaring and hateful world. KLOVE is an oasis in this world of glorified wickedness. I don't mean to sound preachy by using "glorified wickedness", but what else would you call these songs that talk about how much "booty" a guy can get? As a parent, it scares me when I think about my kids listening to the filth out there today. When I see my 12 year old son tuning in KLOVE to listen to at night, well, I am more relieved than I can put words to. Please, you don't have to be Christian fanatics to see the value, no, the NECCESSITY of having a station like KLOVE on the air. I am sorry this isn't "brief", but when I found out that KLOVE was in danger, my stomach turned and my heart dropped. You can't take KLOVE away. There are too many people who need it. Please, I am begging you to not take KLOVE away. I need it. Thank you, Autumn Kunce
